

You and your frozen embryos
have options.

What should you do with your frozen embryos?

We understand it is a very difficult decision.

Let us help you.

Use, store or donate your embryos...

Helping you with a difficult decision...

Deciding what to do with your frozen embryos is a very difficult decision. You may use them, continue to store them, donate them to science or patients in need and sometimes even discard them.

They were created with the hope and dream of building a family. You gave so much to create those embryos. Perhaps now, you might consider helping others experiencing the same infertility journey.

Why Embryo Donation International?

- There is no cost to you and we may actually be able to help with unpaid storage fees.
- You may stipulate the characteristics of the embryo recipients.
- Up to the point of transfer, you can even change your mind and have your embryos returned.
- Every time you donate, we also "pay it forward" by donating to charity.
- Anonymous, Approved and Open Embryo Donation options are available.
- We are one of the most experienced facilities in the U.S., performing embryo donation since 2001.
- And many more reasons to consider EDI....

We want to make this as easy as possible.
If this is your time to decide, let us help.
